MOTORS RUNS TO
44TH DAY

Detroit, Jan. 2. (AP)—While big General Motors idled through a 43rd consecutive day, the production lines of other auto plants swung back into the task of turning out 1946-model cars today.

The return to production after the holiday layoffs was of a limited sort, however, in view of strikes and parts shortages. Total 1946 production now is estimated at 3,500,000 vehicles, compared to last October's estimate of 5,000,000 for the year.

Strike-closed General Motors and the CIO's United Auto Workers Union arranged to meet Monday for resumption of their negotiations.

COMPROMISE DENIED

Detroit, Jan. 2. (AP)—An unscrupled rumor that the 43-day-old General Motors Corp. strike is to be settled on the basis of a 15.5 per cent wage increase was denied today by both the company and the CIO United Auto Workers.

The union is demanding a 30 per cent wage boost. The company has offered a raise of about 12 per cent.

tations, which have been stated over the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase.

Although refusing to appear before President Truman's fact-finding board on grounds that the board has no right to inquire into General Motors' ability to pay a wage increase, the corporation has been willing to go ahead with talks with the striking union.

Board Report Awaited
A union spokesman said today that the UAW-CIO was "anxious" to hear the report of the president's board, which is expected some time this week. This union source said the board's report might provide "a new basis for negotiations."

In withdrawing from the fact-finding board's hearings, General Motors charged that the "American system of competitive enterprise" would be destroyed if management were forced to open its books to public inquiry.

Data made available to the board included a department of commerce report which said General Motors could pay a 15 per Paw Paw, Mich., Jan. 2. (AP)—A man who walked into the state police post Tuesday claiming to have lost his memory was identified late today by relatives as Howard Dalton, 61, a farmer, of Gobles, Mich.

Mrs. Frances Plantefaber, his daughter, and Mrs. Bernice Jewell, a daughter-in-law, both of Kalamazoo, made the identification.

Dalton's memory began to return when confronted by the women, state police said. He said he had been in Arizona for his health and was hitch-hiking his way home when he lost his memory.

The loss, covered by insurance, was estimated to be in excess of $20,000. Approximately half of the loss was in equipment and stock of the Delta Furniture company, and the remainder was the building, owned by the E. & L. S. Railroad company.

Kaltenbrunner Branded
Boss Of Mass Murders

BY JAMES F. KING

Nuernberg, Jan. 2. (AP)—Hulking, scar-faced Ernst Kaltenbrunner, head of the dread Nazi security police, was accused before the International Military Tribunal today of leading entire communities exterminated and of personally watching concentration camp victims die in a gas chamber.

American prosecutors read into the record affidavits saying Kaltenbrunner personally witnessed a mass gas execution in the Mauthausen prison camp; issued a secret order calling for the annihilation of concentration camp inmates in the Allied path during the closing days of the war; and encouraged Germans to kill Allied air crews who parachuted from damaged planes.

One affidavit said Kaltenbrunner personally ordered the execution of from 12 to 15 Americans in uniform, including Associated Press war correspondent Joseph Morten.

Completing the case against the gestapo, security police and secret police, United States prosecutors presented a secret order of Adolf Hitler calling for "slaughter to the last man" of Allied commandos and parachute troops captured after Oct. 28, 1942.

The order said any officers or men failing to carry it out would be held responsible under military law.

A German contractor, Hermann Friedrich Graebe, said in an affidavit that during the night of July 13, 1942, about 5,000 Jews in the Ghetto of the Ukrainian town

JEHOL PROVINCE
WAR THREATENSCommunists To Resist
Attack By Chinese
Nationalists

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Jan. 2. (AP)—Civil war for possession of Jehol province in northern China was threatened tonight by a Chinese Communist spokesman.

No full-scale clashes have developed in the province but a government spokesman said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops were taking over Jehol "as a matter of course." The Communist spokesman reported:

"Communist troops will resist any attack on them in Jehol. This is civil war."

The verbal clash came as government officials awaited a reply from the Communist capital at Yanan to their counter proposals for the end of China's civil strife.

Communists charged 225,000 national government troops have been assigned to take Jehol away from them.

They said 75,000 of Chiang's men swept up the Peiping-Jehol railroad and took Kupeikow, border town along the great wall between China proper and Jehol. Another 150,000 were reported thrusting westward toward Jehol from Liaoning province in Manchuria.

of Rowne, were massacred by Nazi SS troops and security police.

The American prosecutors read into the trial record an affidavit from Bertus Gerdes, chief of staff to the Gauleiter of Upper Bavaria, which said Kaltenbrunner, even with catastrophic defeat facing the reich last winter, issued a secret order directing that "all Germans go unpunished in the future participate in the persecution and annihilation of enemy air crews who parachute down."

Kaltenbrunner's signature was attached to orders for mass murder and mass shipments of captives to concentration camps. Dozens of his former aides signed affidavits pointing responsibility at Kaltenbrunner and his organizations.

BIDS FOR STATE
FUNDS CHECKEDCities And Schools Must Prove Need To Get Financial Aid

Lansing, Jan. 2. (AP)—Rep. John P. Espie, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, who is calling signals for the start of the special legislative session Jan. 28, said today his committee was demanding cities prove their need for state financial assistance in the same way state agencies justify their demands for appropriations.

Espie made his announcement at the end of the first day of hearings by his committee in preparation for the special session.

Explaining that the mental hospital group, the state colleges and other agencies will be required to submit "written, detailed statements" supporting their requests for funds, Espie said representatives of the municipalities will be called before the committee in groups representing cities of less than 5,000 population, of less than 10,000 population and the larger cities of the state.

"We will demand from them the same detailed written statements of their proposal capital improvements," Espie said. "We want to know what they intend to do with the money they are asking for."

"Then we will weigh their requests in comparison with the needs of the state and decide which is the more pressing, state or local needs."

Espie said the same procedure would be followed with the public schools, which have asked for $2,000,000 in additional state aid and hinted at requests for construction funds.

BEAN CROP SHORT

Lansing, Jan. 2. (AP)—The federal-state crop reporting service said today the state's 1945 dry bean crop of 3,257,000 100-pound bags was the smallest since 1936, and caused the state to drop to second place in national production of dry beans.

As Six Cars Plunge
Down Embankment

Blaney, S. C., Jan. 2. (AP)—The Seaboard Airline's East Coast Silver Meteor, rolling southward through the darkness from New York to Miami, was partially derailed near this village early today, and two passengers died while more than a score were hurt as six cars toppled down a high, steep embankment.

Those killed were a young negro woman, Helen E. Wilson, 22, of Williamson, Va., and her four months old daughter, Beverly. Her husband, Alonzo H. Wilson, a discharged service man, said he saw them crushed to death between two seats when the combination baggage car-coach in which they were riding plunged down the embankment.

Four sleeping cars and a Diesel power unit, in addition to the coach, crashed down the embankment at 5:15 a. m., shearing off pine trees and plowing up deep paths through the soft ground. The cause of the derailment was not determined.

Sam Smallman, Passaic, N. J., leather manufacturer, told of women fainting and children crying as they were pitched from their berths by the plunge of the cars.

"The horrible part was the complete darkness that surrounded us," he said. "We had no flashlights and matches dimly lighted the car after we got our bearings somewhat."

Lt. Commander Joe Zaritsky, also of Passaic, estimated that three or four hours passed before all the passengers were rescued from the overturned cars.

Two-Headed Baby Born
To GI's Wife In Britain

Birmingham, England, Jan. 2. (AP)—The 21-year-old wife of an American soldier gave birth to a two-headed baby girl yesterday, and tonight she was reported choosing among names like Jane and Alice in the belief she had borne girl twins.

Her child was still alive—feeding by bottle at both mouths—but a member of the Selly Oak hospital staff said the baby's chances for survival were slim. However, a nurse said the baby was "slightly improved" tonight.

It was believed the task of informing the mother would be postponed until there were more definite developments.

The soldier husband is in America, having returned there last July. Neither his name nor that of the mother was divulged.

The child has two perfectly formed heads and two necks. Her shoulders and body are normal. The girl was born at the suburban home of the mother six weeks prematurely. The child and mother were taken to the hospital immediately and the baby was placed in the premature ward. The mother is recovering normally.

HAWAII SLIPUP

ADM. KIMMELWAR ORDERS NOT CARRIED OUT,
STARK SAYS

BY WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

Washington, Jan. 2. (AP)—Adm. Harold R. Stark said today Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, Pacific fleet commander, failed to carry out orders given him in a "war warning" before the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

The 1941 chief of naval operations told a Senate-House investigating committee Kimmel did not undertake aerial reconnaissance in compliance with the Nov. 2 message instructing him to execute a "defensive deployment."

Defenses Not Alert

Had Hawaii's defenses been alert, Stark said, the damage inflicted by the Japanese would at least have been "considerably lessened."

"I think they (the American forces) might have given a right good account of themselves," he added.

Stark had related earlier that 30 fighter planes were taken from Hawaii in the ten days before the attack. Twelve were sent to Wake Island and 18 to Midway Island.

He contended this shift had not weakened Pearl Harbor's defenses because the outlying islands formed part of the defense chain around Oahu.

He said he attended the Atlantic conference of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in August, 1941, and, to his knowledge, there was no agreement that the United States would go to war in event Japan attacked British interests in the Pacific.

He said he agreed with Mr. Roosevelt's view in 1940 that keeping the fleet at Pearl Harbor was a "deterrent" to Japanese aggression.

Roosevelt "Sits Tight"

Stark related he discussed with Mr. Roosevelt at that time the advantages and disadvantages of having the fleet at Pearl Harbor.

"Finally," Stark related, "the president said: 'I hardly know. When I'm in doubt and not sure just what is best, I'm inclined to sit tight and I think that is what we will do.'"

Asked by Rep. Clark (D-NC) what he would have done had he been in Kimmel's place and received a war warning, Stark said: "I certainly would be started radar

Wants To Get Out

Miami, Fla., Jan. 2. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal said here today that he planned to resign his post sometime this year.

It was his first direct statement on his often-reported plans to leave the position.

$20,000 Fire Destroys
Delta Furniture Plant

Fire of undetermined origin on Tuesday night destroyed the Delta Furniture company plant, equipment and stock at Wells at a loss estimated to be in excess of $20,000. The loss is almost completely covered by insurance.

The Delta Furniture company had been in operation only since July 1, 1945, was employing 23 persons as the year ended and prospects for 1946 were bright when the New Year's Day fire destroyed its plant.

The building was owned by the E. & L. S. Railroad company and was purchased two years ago from the L. Stephenson company when the latter closed down. George N. Harder, president of the E. & L. S., said the building was valued at an estimated $10,000.

Seek New Location
C. J. Thorsen, vice president of the Delta Furniture company, estimated the company's loss in equipment and stock in excess of $10,000.

Harry Bourke is president of the company. "We are trying to find another building and will resume operations as soon as possible," Thorsen said yesterday.

First report of the fire came about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening when children noticed the blaze inside the building and reported it to Thorsen, who lives in Wells. Thorsen turned in an alarm and went to the plant, only to find that it was impossible to save anything because of the mass of flames and smoke at the building entrances.

Cause of the fire was undetermined both by firemen and the building owners and occupants. The fire was known to have started on the second floor.

The building was approximately 120 feet long and 70 feet wide, was two stories high and had a full basement. When owned by the L. Stephenson company it was used by the company as an office, and a general store and meat market also were located there. It was a frame structure with two double vaults of brick, and only the vaults were left standing after the fire.

Fireman Is Injured
Escanaba firemen, including the men who were on the off-shift, were called to help fight the blaze.

Fireman James Smith of 940 North 18th street was injured when the eaves on the south gable end of the building fell suddenly after the supporting roof had burned away. The falling eaves struck him as he slipped in trying to get from under it. He was taken to St. Francis hospital for treatment and observation.

Yesterday it was reported that he had hip, leg and foot injuries but his condition is not considered serious. X-ray examination was given to further determine the extent of his injuries.

The fire department was unable to check the blaze, which consumed the frame structure.

One other fire was reported Tuesday. Firemen were called to 1511 North 16th street at 11:10 p. m. when a mattress was ignited by a cigarette.

CHURCH ELDER
HIT WITH PIPEGrand Rapids Minister
Accused Of Intent
To Murder

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 2. (AP)—The Rev. Frank E. Siple, 53-year-old pastor of the Southlawn Park Church of God, was accused of assault with intent to murder in a three-count warrant issued today upon the complaint of an elder of the church who said the minister struck him over the head Monday with a length of iron pipe.

The Rev. Siple was found overcome by gas in the basement of his home a short time after the alleged attack and is under police guard in a hospital. It is believed he will recover.

Prosecutor Menso R. Bolt, on whose recommendation the warrant was issued, said the elder, Lyle Doan, 42, accused the pastor of a previous attempt to poison him with Christmas candy.

The prosecutor said he is sending samples of the candy to the state police laboratory in East Lansing, Mich., for analysis.

Prosecutor Bolt said Doan told him he was driving the Rev. Siple to the home of another church member Monday night when the pastor struck him with a 14-inch pipe.

Doan said he ran to a nearby house for aid.

A few minutes later the minister was found unconscious in the basement of his home. Police Chief Richard Vanit of Wyoming township said a disconnected gas fixture was nearby.

Ceilings Restored
On Citrus Fruits

Washington, Jan. 2. (AP)—Ceiling prices for fresh citrus fruits will be reimposed at 12:01 a. m. Jan. 4, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

The OPA said this action was taken with authorization and direction of John C. Collett, stabilization administrator.

Ceiling prices were suspended last Nov. 19.

"Because of the unexpected price increases in fresh citrus fruits," said the OPA announcement, "the advisability of restoring controls has been under consideration for several weeks."

WALKOUT SET
FOR JAN. 16
IN 147 PLANTSPAY BOOST OF 25c
AN HOUR SOUGHT
BY CIO UNION

Chicago, Jan. 2. (AP)—The CIO-United Packinghouse Workers Union announced today its 200,000 members would go out on strike January 16 in 147 packing plants, large and small, throughout the nation in support of its demand for a wage increase of 25 cents an hour.

Lewis J. Clark, the union's international president, announcing the strike call at a news conference, declared the meat packers could pay the demanded wage boost without an increase in meat prices.

Declaring that "the only thing that will prevent this strike is a substantial wage increase," Clarke said the union would be willing to accept a 17½ cents hike now, then negotiate the balance later when the nation's general wage picture becomes clearer.

Companies Blamed
Asserting that "the meat packing companies forced this strike upon us," Clark said that under present wages the majority of workers soon would earn $30 or less for a 40-hour week. He said the cost of living had gone up more than 40 per cent since 1941 but the union's 25 cents an hour increase demand was only a 30 per cent increase over average hourly earnings in the industry of 87 cents an hour.

J. E. Wilson, general superintendent of Swift and company meat packing plants, said: "We regret that the officials of the UPWA-CIO have seen fit to announce that the union will go on strike beginning January 16. The immediate effect of such a strike would be a curtailment of meat supplies to consumers and the armed forces. This would also sharply curtail our purchases of livestock. Swift and company has been negotiating with officials of the union for some weeks and we hope that these negotiations will continue without interruption to the company's operations."

A Cudahy spokesman said "negotiations with the union are still in progress."

The strike would affect the large companies, Armour, Cudahy, Swift, Wilson and Morrell, and "most smaller independent plants," Clark said, in such cities as Chicago, St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City, Sioux City, Ia., Denver, East St. Louis, Ill., New York, Los Angeles and Fort Worth, Tex.

The union claimed 200,000 members representing 95 per cent of the nation's meat slaughtering workers. Many more thousands in the wholesale and retail meat businesses would be affected if a strike prevented movement of meat from packing plants through trade channels.

"Meat won't move," Clark declared, "and neither will by-products."

Charlevoix, Mich., Jan. 2. (AP)—Winter plane service to Beaver Island started Wednesday, Pilot Philip Pelley, of Cadillac, making the first trip in a light plane.

JET PLANE SPEEDS AT 300-MILE CLIP— An order for 100 jet propulsion twin-engine commercial passenger planes like that sketched above has been announced by American Airlines as having been placed with Consolidated Vultee Corp. Total expenditure will approximate $18,000,000.

Designers claim that, with jet propulsion as a complement to propellers, the ship will carry 40 passengers at a cruising speed of 300 m.p.h. Another unusual feature of the model will be entrance doors at the front instead of at the side. (NEA Photo.)

Nude And Headless Body Of Woman Is Found In Canyon

San Bernardino, Calif., Jan. 2. (AP)—The nude, headless, headless body of a woman was found in a ravine in nearby Waterman Canyon today.

Coroner R. E. Williams and Sheriff E. L. Shay said the woman, about 30 years old, had been shot before the killer decided to mutilate the body to prevent identification.

The body was found along the rim of the World Highway. The woman had been dead only a short time. The body had been wrapped in a blanket and tied with cotton rope.

The head was severed high on the neck. The hands were sawed off at the wrist. Sheriff Shay said the killer may have been someone with a knowledge of surgery.

Coroner Williams said the killer may have shot and mutilated the woman in a cabin somewhere in the mountains, driven the body on the highway to the canyon, and thrown it into the brush.

There was a bullet hole in the left breast, another under the left armpit. There were no bruises on the body to indicate the woman had been beaten before she was shot, the coroner said.

Efforts To Avert Electrical Strike Make No Progress

Washington, Jan. 2 (AP)—Edgar L. Warren, chief of the federal conciliation service, said tonight that "at this point our efforts have not been successful" in averting a threatened strike of 200,000 workers in the electrical industry.

After a day of conferences with officials of the Westinghouse and General Electric companies, Warren told newsmen he had nothing more to announce.

The CIO-United Electrical Workers executive board will meet in New York January 5 to arrange a strike date in support of demands for wage increases approximating 30 per cent.

It was understood that General Electric addressed a letter to the union today offering further discussions on a 10 per cent wage increase which GE offered and which the union rejected. Westinghouse, Warren indicated, maintained that its negotiations with the union have not—as the union contends—broken down.

No further meetings with the companies have been scheduled, Warren said.

Men's Leisure Clothes To Be Gay and Colorful

By KATHERINE SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York.—Men are in for a colorful time—as far as clothes are concerned. Well aware of how weary servicemen are of wearing khaki and navy blue, men's clothing stores are turning out fireman red shirts, electric blue jackets, checked coat-shirts and haberdashery as gay as a circus.

After four weary war years, men are going to spend more time taking it easy. At least that would seem to be the indication from the extended lines of leisure clothes. If you women think your lounging costumes are super, you should see what's in store for the men.

They'll be wearing pearl gray slacks and loose jackets with a canary yellow shirt. Tall, rangy men will look dashing in narrow-cut, rust-colored slacks and fitted button-down jackets with a pale blue shirt. Emerald green, maize, rosy beige and a whole range of lively brown shades are certain to make men much more colorful characters at home.

In the business world, the trend toward brighter plumage has been clinched with the increased demand for gray flannels with paintbrush stripes of light blue, coral or green. Tweed plaids are hitting new popularity highs, and when production permits, there'll also be brilliant flecked tweeds.

Promising as all this sounds, the clothing picture for supplying the immediate future is far from bright. Demands for suits, topcoats and shirts are so heavy that manufacturers are hard-pressed to fill a fraction of them. The most optimistic of them predict it will be summer before demand and supply begin to even up. Not until then can manufacturers turn their attention to new designs.

Two items available in quantity are neckties and socks in flamboyant designs to liven up old outfits. More conservative men will find plenty of rayon and wool socks in solid muted shades with color accents limited to embroidered clocks.

Government fabric conservation regulations have been lifted to permit men to tuck in an added three inches of shirttail. Double French cuffs are reappearing, too. Colored shirts still are more plentiful than white, though it probably will be spring before there are very many of either.

The Bank of England is 251 years old.

NEWEST SPORTS FASHION for men is this checked wool coat-shirt in rust, dark brown and beige with deep slash pockets. It's worn with dark brown gabardine slacks.

Supreme Court Sets Aside 3 Big Cases; 4 to 4 Split Hinted

Washington, Jan. 2 (AP)—The eight-man supreme court today set aside three important cases until its ninth member gets back, an action which possibly indicated a 4 to 4 split.

The court ordered the issues argued all over again when Justice Robert H. Jackson returns from prosecuting the Nazis at Nurnberg.

The cases involved: 1. Validity of a Hatch act ban on political campaigning by employees of the federal executive branch. A CIO union of government employees contested it as violating freedom of speech, press and assembly.

2. Federal power to prevent plural marriages. Six persons convicted in Utah of Mann Act charges contend it is up to the state to say whether double marriage permitted by a religion is legal.

3. A wage-hour question. A truck company employee contends he is entitled to overtime pay. He lost in the Illinois supreme court which held the interstate commerce commission held jurisdiction, thus invoking an exemption under the wage-hour act.

Airport At Detroit Lousy, Says Former Selfridge Colonel

Detroit, Jan. 2 (AP)—Calling Detroit's city airport "one of the lousiest in the country," a former commandant of Selfridge Field today promised to make a survey of the proposed sites for a new one, decide which is best, and "start yelling about it."

Col. Thomas G. Lanphier, on terminal leave from duties as chief of intelligence officer for the army's general staff, arrived here by train — and verbally blistered Detroit's air facilities.

Vowing never to fly into the city again "until it gets a decent airport," the colonel said, "I fly everywhere else, but the last time I landed here we missed a gas tank by less than 100 yards. It was the first time in my life I was scared of cracking up."

Ingrid Bergman Introduces New Type to Screen

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
Hollywood Staff Correspondent

Hollywood.—Gather around, suffering husbands, and leave us tell you about this gal named Ingrid Bergman, who has introduced a new kind of beauty—naturalness—to the screen. Ingrid's unaffected beauty stands out in Hollywood like Snow White in an M-G-M technicolor chorus.

We were talking to her about it over coffee and cake, in her dressing room on the set of her new movie, "Notorious."

She said she never goes to a beauty parlor (look at the money you could save, fellows) and that she can bathe, get dressed and ready to go out, formally, in 10 minutes flat.

One night, she said, it took her 13 minutes and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, said, "What took you so long, dear?"

Ingrid replied: "I read a short story in the bathtub."

(All you fellows who sit and wait and look at last year's magazines before the little woman comes out of the boudoir at 9:15 to keep an 8:30 dinner date may clip the above paragraph and paste it on the little woman's favorite mirror. No extra charge.)

She Doesn't Change Ingrid Bergman, off the screen, looks just like she does on the screen. Only more well-scrubbed looking, if that is possible. And the naturalness you see on the screen doesn't end when she steps out of camera range.

She will be nominated this year for two Academy awards, for her performances in "Spellbound" and "The Bells of St. Mary's." She won feminine acting honors last year, you know, for "Gaslight," and with the lady competing only against herself this year, the Academy really should change Oscar's name to Ingrid.

She refused to come right out and say which performance she preferred, but she did confess that she liked the character of the nun in "The Bells" better than the psychiatrist in "Spellbound."

"She was a little too intellectual—too haughty," she said. "I'd rather not be so smart. Besides, I don't believe in psychoanalysis."

No Autographs, Please

Ingrid also liked her role in "Saragatello." Although she is known as dignified and reserved, she claims she is much like Cleo Duane, the sultry, quick-tempered Creole heroine.

"Sometimes," she confessed, "I'm not very patient."

Autograph fans have discovered this. She waves them aside, sweetly but firmly, with "I'm sorry."

Ingrid's contract with Selznick expires in February, after which she will re-sign with Leo McCarey's Rainbow Productions. But before she makes another picture she will star on Broadway as Joan of Arc in "The Girl from Lorraine."

Pia, her seven-year-old daughter, will go to New York with her. Although Ingrid and her husband frequently speak Swedish around the house, Pia speaks perfect English. "With a slight southern accent," Ingrid chuckles, "the result of having a Negro maid."

going 24 hours a day."

Stark testified the transfer of the 30 Marine planes from Oahu to Midway and Wake had Washington approval, but that the exact time of the move was left to Kimmel. The fleet commander sent 12 to Wake on the carrier Enterprise on Nov. 28 and 18 to Midway on the carrier Lexington on Dec. 4.

It was Stark's second day as a witness. During a mid-day break in his testimony, the committee met in executive session and selected Seth Richardson, Washington attorney, as its new chief counsel.

Richardson will succeed William D. Mitchell who intends to retire when Stark's testimony is completed.

Stark told the committee he had not anticipated an air attack on Pearl Harbor, nor any such broad-scale offensive as the Japanese unleashed. "I knew it to be a possibility," he said of the attack, "but as to actually expecting an attack at that time, I did not."

Cutter Fights Ice To Reach Plane On Lake St. Clair Floe

Detroit, Jan. 2 (AP)—The Coast Guard said late tonight that it has been unable to locate a small "mystery" plane which was reported down on an ice floe in Lake St. Clair but that search will continue.

Grosse Pointe police said they doubted that the occupants could survive in the icy water and that the plane may have drifted off the floe and sunk.

While hundreds of persons lined the shore to watch, the Coast Guard Cutter Acadia, commanded by Lt. H. J. Beyschlag, brought its powerful searchlight into play after darkness closed in on the accident scene about a half-mile offshore.

The Coast Guard said no word has been received from the Acadia to substantiate the theory that the plane passengers are dead.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

HARRY: "I don't know what they'll weigh up, Judge, but my cattle and poultry sure have been gettin' fatter since I started to use distillers' dried grains in their ration."

OLD JUDGE: "You're about the tenth one who has told me that, Harry. How do you account for it?"

HARRY: "The by-product recovered from grains used by distillers is very high in vitamin and protein content. It's the best feed supplement we can get to balance the rations we feed our dairy cows, livestock and poultry. Mixed with original grain, these distillers' dried grains have a much greater feeding value than the original grain has."

OLD JUDGE: "Have any trouble getting all you need?"

HARRY: "Yes, at times, even though the distillers produced 1,200,000,000 pounds of it for the year endin' last June. I hope they'll be in a position to produce a lot more next year."

OLD JUDGE: "Then I guess nobody can tell you grain is wasted in distilling."

HARRY: "Not me, Judge... I know."

NEW DEARFREE PLANT OPENS

Furniture Production To Begin Today At Tannery Building

The Dearfree company will begin production of its line of furniture today at its new plant, located in the tannery building at Wells. Production will begin with a crew of approximately 25 persons.

Although production was scheduled to begin yesterday, installation of essential equipment was delayed and the opening day's work consisted of assembling several samples for display at the January furniture market. Samples to be displayed include a clothes hamper, bookcase and bedroom furniture.

Spraying equipment has been installed but air hose lines are not yet completed. Spray booths, however, will be in operation before the end of the week.

Until assembling lines have been completed, work will be concentrated upon upholstered furniture for which equipment and materials are already available.

The crew of workers will be gradually expanded until the capacity of approximately 200 persons is reached. The company will operate on a five-day week, eight hours per day. The company's daily schedule is 8:00 to 12:00 and 12:30 to 4:30 o'clock.

Seal Industry Dies In Newfoundland

St. John's Newfoundland, (AP)—The sealing industry of Newfoundland, punctuated with a long history of adventure and tragedy, apparently is fading into the rugged past of the island. One explanation of its virtual disappearance is the cost of ships which with the exception of the steel steamers can be employed only two months and not be used in other work during the rest of the year. The last fleet to sail for the icefields was in 1941.

That the industry is practically obsolete is obvious from the figures of ships and men employed—in 1906 there were 25 steamers and 4,061 men, while in 1936 there had been reduced to eight steamers and 1,460 men. In 1936 the catch was about 150,000 seals, valued at around $200,000.

The only attempt to revive the once important industry is made by shrimpers around the north coast, who sometimes succeed in getting remunerative catches. The conditions are subject to the vagaries of wind and tide, and the fishermen practically have to wait for the seals to come to them.

Shallow Waves Dangerous

Waves are more treacherous in shallow water than upon the open sea. In shallow water, the bottom interferes with the natural action so that even an experienced seaman cannot tell what the next wave will be like.

Tattooing is common in Egypt.

GLASS FIRESCREEN ELIMINATE DRAFT—When you stand before your blazing fireplace and are nice and warm in front but feel a chill draft hitting your back, it's because the fire causes air in the room to rush into the fireplace and up the chimney, taking with it a good bit of the heat. To eliminate this annoying draft, Gerald and Lloyd Merryweather, Akron, Ohio, heating engineers, devised a glass firescreen that does the trick. In a metal frame, the heat-resistant glass fits snugly into the fireplace opening. Its two doors can be opened for tending the fire. Beneath them is the all-important gadget—a narrow slot, which provides all the oxygen any fire needs and can be opened or closed to regulate the draft. Above, Lynn Merryweather, Gerald's daughter, enjoys "all-around" warmth before the new screen in her home. (NEA Photo.)

Reds Kept Ozarks From Elbe Finale

One of the last battles fought in Germany occurred near Tangermünde, and the men of the 102nd Infantry (Ozark) Division were not participants, but witnesses. The battle was fought between the Russians advancing on the Elbe River, and the Nazis who were trying to get across the river—away from the ferocious Russians—to surrender to the men of the 102nd.

The fight went on for hours, with the Ozark men unable to join in for fear of hitting the Russians. The Germans finally managed to get across the river, where they promptly surrendered to the Ozark doughs.

The 102nd saw its first combat near the Roer River at the end of 1944. Serving under the Ninth Army, the Ozarks took Lovenich, then fought in the Muenchen-Gladbach area. Late in February, the division spearheaded the Ninth's crossing of the Roer, and then attacked north toward the Rhine. In their race to the Rhine, the 102nd overran 86 towns and cities.

At Krefeld, in addition to taking the vital rail and communications center, the 102nd doughs captured the site of a tremendous rocket factory.

The Ozarks chased the Germans from the Rhine to the Elbe, then settled down to await the arrival of the Russians.

Pneumonia Usually Easy To Recognize

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
Chill, fever, pain in the chest and cough with expectation of "rusty" sputum are the usual signs of pneumonia when it is caused by the pneumococcus (pneumonia germ). True epidemics of pneumonia are rare as most infections are contracted from healthy carriers in the family or place of employment and not from other cases.

Pneumococci the most common disease-producing bacteria in the temperate zone, exists as harmless parasites in the throat of man and many animals until they invade susceptible tissues and produce virulent infections. The lungs as well as other organs of the body can be infected by the pneumococcus.

Greatest susceptibility to pneumonia occurs in the young and in the aged, but it accounts for half the fatalities in the prime of life. Men and women are equally susceptible to pneumonia when they are living and working under comparable conditions, but more cases develop in men because of greater occupational exposure which lowers resistance.

Fatigue Favors Infection
Fatigue, followed by chilling after profuse perspiration favors the development of pneumococcal infections. Other factors are malnutrition, sudden drop in temperature, exposure to cold and dampness and previous attacks. Pneumonia is more prevalent in the cities because of less favorable living and working conditions.

Pneumonia has a tendency to recur, but relapses are not common as second and third attacks usually represent infections with other pneumonia germs. Severity of repeat infections depends on the character of the germ and the condition of the patient.

Pneumonia is usually not difficult to recognize and a physician should be called for any patient who has chill, fever, cough, and pain in the side. At times pneumonia does not start in this fashion as it may appear to be nothing more than a hard cold which does not improve.

SUGAR STAMP 39 IS VALID

Revised Forms For Book Number 4 Available At Local Office

James E. Anderson, of the local price control board, announced yesterday that the number 39 sugar ration stamp is now valid. This stamp will be good for the next four months period and will expire April 30, 1946.

The number 38 stamp became invalid as of Dec. 31, 1945.

Mr. Anderson points out that although the number 38 stamp is invalid for household users, the suppliers' last date for its use is Jan. 31, 1946. Up to that date it can be used without a ration bank account. The last date for deposit from the use of the X-ray in examining the chest as it may reveal pneumonia when it cannot be detected in other ways. Expectoration of "rusty" sputum occurring in a patient with an acute respiratory infection is rarely observed in any other disease than pneumonia.

The first essential in the care of a patient with pneumonia is good nursing, as he must be kept quiet, comfortable and properly fed. Oxygen is administered to relieve distress. Oxygen, sulfa drugs and penicillin are the mainstays in the treatment of pneumonia. Although still a dangerous disease, modern methods of management have reduced the death rate from 25 per cent to about 5 per cent.

Let's talk turkey

Who should receive the benefits of improved methods when industry gets back into its peacetime production stride?

Judging by their strike demands, UAW-CIO leaders seem to think that such benefits should go entirely to union members.

They forget that it is important for consumers to benefit through reduced prices or greater values. This has the added advantage of increasing volume and thus expanding job opportunities.

They forget too that improved production methods come largely from the use of improved machinery and tools supplied by the owners of the business.

Over the years the automobile industry has grown and prospered and contributed substantially to the welfare of our country because it has adhered to the principle that customers, employees and investors must all benefit from improved methods.

The decision on how best to distribute the benefits calls for experience, judgment and—above all—a primary interest in the welfare of all concerned.

That's why such decisions must be left to management, which is equally concerned with the interests of employees, stockholders—and customers!

The Death of Hitler

A DOLF HITLER, the foremost arch-criminal of the 20th century, the man who threw virtually the entire world into the bloodiest war of all time, perished in the besieged bunker under the Reich chancellery in Berlin last April 30, apparently by his own hand, documents captured by British and American intelligence officers have proved. Hitler died ignominiously with his bride of 36 hours, Eva Braun, a few days before the final collapse of the German Reich.

The captured documents authenticate the stories of Nazi associates of Hitler that the German Fuehrer and his bride took their own lives and that their bodies were destroyed by fire.

The suicidal death of Adolf Hitler removed the Allies' fears that German fanatics may rally under a Hitler legend to launch new aggressions in Europe. Hitler died the death of the coward.

Now that absolute confirmation of Hitler's death has been secured, the world can be content that the man who enslaved millions of persons and caused untold miseries has not escaped punishment for his crime. History will forever judge Adolf Hitler as a liar, a murderer, a man without scruples and, as his suicidal death proved, a coward.

DESTRUCTION of the Delta Furniture company's plant at Wells by fire Tuesday night was a bad start for the community's industrial program for the new year.

The Delta Furniture company, organized several months ago by Ole J. Thorsen and Harry Bourke to provide a business opportunity for their sons upon their return from service, has been doing exceptionally well. When the fire destroyed its factory, the firm had many orders for its magazine racks, chief item in its line of products.

The fire was a serious setback for the community's industrial program because there is a shortage of factory buildings at the present time and construction materials are hard to get. It is to be hoped that temporary quarters can be found for the Delta Furniture company so that it will be able to resume operations soon.

End of Bellbottoms

BELL-BOTTOM trousers, the trademark of American sailors for many years, are on their way out and enlisted men of the United States Navy will be glad to see the last of them.

The tight-fitting trousers of the American naval uniform has been the curse of sailors for years. The trousers lacked the No. 1 essential of modern dress, pants pockets. Sailors have long sought a place to carry the trinkets of personal convenience, a jackknife, money, handkerchief, etc., but the tight fitting sailor pants just didn't fill the bill.

Sample uniforms of new designs are now being tested for wearing and stowage by personnel of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets. Eventually, a new standard uniform will replace the bell bottoms for all of the men of the navy. The time can't come too soon for American sailors.

News and Publicity

ALL newspapers are glad to get the news of the activities of various organizations, but in recent years a practice has developed that has become somewhat of an annoyance and nuisance to editors. This is the practice of organizations that stage contests for their publicity committees to see how much space they can get in the newspapers.

It works like this: An organization, usually one with a national or state connection, is urged to keep a scrapbook and measure the inches of publicity it receives in the local paper in a certain period of time. The club with the most inches gets a prize or honorable mention.

The scheme is silly for several reasons. For one thing, no two communities have newspapers with exactly the same space problems. One publisher may accept articles of little or no news value, just to please the person or persons requesting the space. Another may feel he must limit such articles to those portions that are of general interest, even at the risk of offending.

The answer is for organizations to refuse to enter such contests for publicity value simply cannot be measured in inches. Often a short item is worth much more than a column of mere spacefiller. Contests on publicity should be judged on the basis of merit in what the publicity itself reflects, rather than on volume of printed matter.

Reading in Winter

PERIODICALLY, the Carnegie public library announces its list of new books of fiction and non-fiction that have been added to the shelves. The library pursues a policy of offering to the Escanaba public the finest in current literature, but that isn't all for there are many other books, acquired some years ago, that also can be read for self-education and enjoyment. Now that the winter months are here and hearth fires are being lit again, let us recommend to our readers that there is no occupation so resultful of calm and quiet nerves as the reading of a good book. Of course there are other competitors for your time, but the results from reading are three-fold. You learn something about life, you find a subject for conversation and you spend your time in making new friends even though they may be imaginary.

The public library is at your service.

Jobs and Ads

THE ESCANABA Daily Press and other newspapers have been publishing for some time advertisements from industrial and commercial concerns who are clamoring for help. The advertisements are not limited to those usually appearing in the classified section, but occupy considerable display space in the general advertising sections.

While employers are advertising like never before for help, the lists of persons filing applications for unemployment compensation benefits is increasing. It's a funny situation.

SITUATION CRITICAL
(Iron Mountain News)

It is no secret that the situation confronting mine operators on the Michigan ranges is critical. They are faced on one hand by rising costs and a demand for a $2 a day increase in wages and on the other by OPA price ceilings, which already have caused operating losses.

With few if any exceptions it is not a question of whether wage increases can be granted without bringing about unprofitable and will continue to be unprofitable unless costs of production are decreased, which is unlikely, or price ceilings are raised.

R. S. Archibald, president of the North Range Mining company, says operations in Michigan have been continued, despite losses, in the hope that relief in the form of price increases would be forthcoming. The principal reason it has not been forthcoming, he says, is the fact the open pit mines on the Mesabi range, which produce 75 per cent of the nation's output, have been operated at a profit, thereby placing the industry as a whole in black.

The unfavorable competitive position of the underground mines is beyond dispute. Although the price of ore has been pegged at a figure approximately 50 cents a ton below the level of six years ago, the average wage has been largely increased in the interval.

Higher costs and price ceilings seriously affected this district. The open pit mines of the Mesabi have, under the same conditions, continued to show a profit. A miner on the Mesabi range can produce five to six times more ore than the underground miner.

The mining companies and the steel mills want the high grade ores of the Michigan ranges, but if costs become prohibitive it is said they can get along with ore from the Mesabi mines.

Not many months ago employees of Copper Range in the Copper country voted, by a narrow margin, against accepting the current wage scale, which made possible operation of its marginal properties. The company shut down the mines. The iron mines on the Michigan ranges have not been exhausted. Reserves still are considerable. But higher costs of production combined with arbitrary price control many months ago put them in the sub-marginal category.

The question arises whether the operators will be willing to underwrite even greater losses which, without higher prices, will result from granting further wage increases. None can know the answer. But one thing is certain. No industry can continue indefinitely to do business in the red.

TWO FLIES TO TEN COWS
(New York Herald Tribune)

Cows, like men, are of various sizes, shapes and qualities. Some are as ornery as a kicking brindle. Others are as gentle as a daisy in a June meadow. But all bovine matrons, doubtless even the lyric heroines of crumpled horn or moon-leaping accomplishment, have one thing in common: they are annoyed by flies.

Dairymen having long ago turned to various sprays to repulse the attacks of the aggressive muscidæ upon their herds, it is good to learn that the lethally known D.D.T. now is giving a good record in this capacity. A company owning a New Jersey dairy of 1,500 cows reported this week that the use of D.D.T. on the walls of its 33 barns had reduced a fly population of last August to the comfortable minimum of two flies to every ten cows. This almost harmless ratio, it seems, would permit the most ornery small farm brindle to get through milking without lifting a ready hind leg.

It's easy to get by a railroad crossing on your good looks.

Q. I and a million other stenographers would be grateful for one of your sensible discussions on the correct use of quotation marks, especially when used with a question mark. Can do?

Answer: Can do. Here's a simple rule which most publications follow:
Any punctuation mark that belongs with the quoted matter should be placed inside the quotation marks.

Correct: He asked, "May I come in?"
Correct: Was it Patrick Henry who said,

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—The psychological pattern for each big three conference has been strikingly similar. It runs the gamut of suspense, hope long-deferred, fear that is close to despair and then at the final unveiling of chorus of Hosannas.

The meeting in Moscow has been no exception. Around the world we watched, figuratively speaking, as the smoke came out of the chimney of the council chamber. We wondered, we hoped, we speculated.

There were rumors that all was lost. There were other rumors that a solution of all the world's problems was at hand. We waited.

This is the moment when the Hosannas should sound. It is the moment for rejoicing. But this time the outcome will be received with considerably more reservation and skepticism, I believe. The attitude is one of wait and see if this works out. It is in many respects a healthier attitude. Back of it is the disillusion that has grown out of previous experience as the bubble of hope vanished in the harsh light of day.

SENATORS HAVE DOUBTS—Especially with the senators who met with Secretary of State Byrnes just before he left for Moscow, skepticism is the prevailing mood. They have doubts on two scores.

First is the questionmark on atomic energy. In their meeting with Byrnes the senators wanted to be reassured that our exclusive knowledge would not be traded away before an agreement was reached providing for full and complete inspection within all countries. Before the discussion had ended, it became rather heated.

The real doubt in the minds of these senators, and it is not likely to be resolved by the decision reached at Moscow, is this. They fear that the business of reaching an agreement on mutual inspection will be drawn out for months and perhaps even years.

During that prolonged interval other nations may succeed in producing atomic energy which could be employed in atomic weapons. Then, as these senators see it, the possibility of getting an ironclad agreement would be remote indeed. Then the threat to America's security would be very great.

That makes speed in forming an international commission for the control of atomic energy absolutely imperative. It raises once again the question of big-nation veto power within the United Nations organization. If any of the big nations wanted to resort to deliberate stalling tactics, an agreement could be long delayed.

The second reservation is on the score of Russia's behavior. While the conference in Moscow was going on, the Soviet Union was busily engaged in putting its own puppets in power in strategic provinces in oil rich Iran.

USED FAMILIAR TECHNIQUE—The technique was a familiar one. Russian troops backed up Iranian "revolutionaries" who were striking out against a Fascist regime. The government of Iran was prevented from sending in its own troops to put down this "spontaneous revolution."

While the Moscow conference was in progress, loud inspired demands came for a part of Turkey's territory in the Dardanelles. Always in the past this has been the familiar prelude to some such "spontaneous uprising" as the Russians backed in Iran.

What was Russia's explanation for all this? How far is this process of penetration to continue? What about repression in the Balkans under Russian military power?

These are questions that persist. They relate to basic modes of conduct which often carry more weight than words.

Of course, there is always hope in a new start. Byrnes in an interview just before he took off from Moscow sounded a distinctly optimistic note. Certainly this is more hopeful than the previous conference of foreign ministers, in London, when the net result was zero.

The test of the achievements of the conference just ended will come in the next few months. If the peace treaties are framed, if atomic energy comes under international control, then Byrnes will be able to claim a diplomatic triumph for the method of big three collaboration.

"Give me liberty, or give me death!" Note that the exclamation point is part of the quotation; the question mark is not.

Correct: You lie when you say: "This money belongs to him!"
A quotation within a quotation should be enclosed by single marks, thus: I repeated the line from The Raven: "Quoth the Raven, 'nevermore!'"

Colons and semicolons should always follow the quotation mark. Correct: This is my answer to his statement, "American youth is decadent"; rubbish! Correct: I have seen Manila, "The Pearl of the Pacific"; the sight would break your heart.

Commas and periods should always precede the quotation mark. Correct: Shakespeare said, "A light wife doth make a heavy husband." Correct: When Shakespeare spoke of, "A parlous boy," what did he mean by "parlous"?

Here is an actual case in which the improper placement of the question mark has a ludicrous result:

My epitaph must be short and to the point. What of this "Rest in peace?" Obviously, no man would want his epitaph to imply that his resting in peace is in any way a matter of doubt. If the question mark follows the quotation mark, all is well, thus:

My epitaph must be short, and to the point. What of this: "Rest in peace?"

TOURISTS IN 1946 — Tourist and resort associations and all those close to the travel and recreation picture are convinced that 1946 will bring Michigan's biggest boom in the tourist industry.

This poses a challenge for every community north of the Straits of Mackinac, for facilities to adequately accommodate the summer traveler are notably lacking. In many communities there is also a virtual absence of recreational facilities. Much has been done in the past, but there is much more to do to make the tourist's stay so pleasant that he will want to return in the years to come.

And what leaders in the tourist industry fear is that hundreds of thousands of 1946 visitors will come to Michigan and be disappointed. They fear the tourist will not be comfortably housed, adequately entertained and fully pleased with his stay, and will take Michigan off his list of places to vacation in the future.

IT'S NOT LIKELY—The great volume of the state's tourists are the "luxury" type, thank goodness. They come from the Middle West in the majority and they are not seeking either the expensive or the unusual. It is this factor which is likely to make Northern Michigan continue in popularity as a vacation place despite the lack of facilities.

The chrome-plated riding stable and frou-frou night club atmosphere just doesn't exist and is unwanted. The Michigan tourist trade is more interested in bass fishing than floor shows, fresh air and pine woods than swing bands and red plush.

It's not likely, therefore, that the state will suffer in prestige as a vacation place in 1946. The woods and waters and fresh air will still be here, unchanged and ever inviting.

NOT FOR GRANTED — The Northern Michigan tourist industry, of course, is not of the opinion that aromatic breezes can replace a comfortable bed, or good fishing can compensate for poor meals.

The men in the tourist business know that travelers and vacationists want adequate accommodations, and will avoid areas where they are not to be had.

WHAT THEY WANT — Aside from the fishing, the scenery, etc., the tourist is interested first of all in his stomach—or rather what he can find to fill his stomach along the path of his travels.

Unfortunately, Northern Michigan hostilities are little versed in the fine art of feeding their customers with any degree of originality. In the majority the food is comparable to that in most beereries throughout the Middle West, neither very good nor very bad, and totally unimaginative.

Northern Michigan is peopled by descendants of many nationalities. A little scratching beneath the surface and you will find distinctive traits, unusual backgrounds—and distinctive dishes.

The Welshman and his Cornish cream and pasties, the Norwegian and his rolle pullse, the Swedish lutfish, Finnish kala moika, French bouillabaisse are known and respected among those who like fine foods. These same dishes are prepared and served often in the homes of Northern Michigan people, yet are seldom found on

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1936

Atty. Alfred P. Pierson, Saginaw, lifelong Republican and former resident of Escanaba, yesterday was appointed by Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald to succeed the late Circuit Judge Clarence M. Brown of the tenth judicial district.

To Edward Rabideau, highly respected resident of Rock and one of the few remaining surviving veterans of the Civil War in the Upper Peninsula, January 1 has a double significance. It not only marks the beginning of the new year but it marks the anniversary of his birth.

Manistique—Ferdinand Berger passed away shortly after noon Thursday in the St. Francis hospital, Escanaba, where he has been a patient since Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Reed and two sons left Wednesday for York Haven, Pa., where they will make their home. Mr. Reed was recently appointed to the management of the York Haven Paper company mill.

20 Years Ago—1926

Rt. Rev. Bishop Paul J. Nussbaum visited at St. Joseph's rectory Monday en route to Milwaukee where he will be one of the principal speakers at the Holy Name conference which will be held in that city today.

Victor Lemmer will return to Notre Dame University tonight after a holiday visit here at the home of his mother.

Gladstone — Theodore Corbett will leave tonight for Minneapolis where he is a student at the University of Minnesota after spending the holiday vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Corbett.

Driving through heavy snow drifts and reaching the city in a coupe, Lester L. Richards of Blaney and Miss Beatrice Bryers of MacMillan were married at the Methodist parsonage at the eleventh hour of the last day of the year by Rev. R. C. Williams.

any menu of a public eating place.

INDIAN TRADITION — They call it Land of Hiawatha yet the tourist will find practically all "Indian" trinkets and souvenirs for sale in the Upper Peninsula have been made in Brooklyn.

There are enough tribesmen left in Northern Michigan who could manufacture all of the authentic "Hiawathaland" Indian souvenirs. Now there is but one place where this is done—the "Indian Village" at St. Ignace. It is popular and it does make money, if you want to know.

With encouragement, Upper Peninsula Indians might well find a wider market for the articles they manufacture. Some enterprising person could become a dealer who would supply them with materials and purchase their products for sale to "Hiawathaland" shops. Baskets, hampers, creels, sewing boxes, fishing rods, snowshoes, bows and arrows, paterly—the list of articles they might manufacture for the tourist trade is long and impressive.

THE LITTLE THINGS—For all who come in contact with the tourist visitors (and this includes nearly all of us) there is the necessity for courtesy in our treatment of him. Besides courtesy there is the necessity of knowing our Upper Peninsula at least in a general way, and our own locality in particular. This is important for the man or woman engaged in the tourist business.

The tourist industry is the second largest industry in Michigan. Within the next few years it may take first place. It is all cash and no credit business, and that kind is worthwhile cultivating.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—The new year greets Harry Truman with two big housekeeping problems right inside his own family.

One is slow-moving, procrastinating John Snyder of St. Louis, the war reconverter, an old and intimate friend of Truman's but no help when it comes to getting U. S. economy back on a smooth-running, peace-time basis.

The other is fast-moving, hard-working James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, who is sincerely and conscientiously trying to renovate the moth-eaten state department and build a better world, but who has a certain amount of friction with Truman.

Of the two, Snyder is the more immediate problem; Byrnes is more important, but long-range. With Byrnes it's largely a question of personalities. With Snyder, it's a question of mistakes.

Byrnes is a man who, under Roosevelt, was accustomed to running his own show. He would send recommendations up to congress without consulting the White House. He was "assistant president," and with FDR frequently out of town he definitely operated as such.

Now he sometimes forgets that there is a man in the White House who is accountable to the public regarding foreign affairs and who likes to know, sometimes in detail, what's going on. That was probably why Byrnes released an important policy statement on Germany just before he left for Moscow, without consulting Truman. Probably he didn't mean it that way, but it caused irritation inside the White House.

Again, before he came back from the London conference last fall, Jimmy announced—without consulting his chief—that he would deliver a radio address to the nation. The White House didn't like this, either.

Despite this slip, when Jimmy alighted from his Moscow plane last week, he once again announced that he would give a radio report to the nation.

These small things, plus some other bigger ones, have riled relations between the President and his No. 1 cabinet officer. Both men are a little quick on the trigger. Both are sensitive beneath the surface. In addition, the President happens to be surrounded by several advisers who not only don't care much for Byrnes, but think he has fumbled several balls on the foreign affairs front.

Prediction: There is bound to be a clash between Byrnes and Truman before the year 1946 is over.

—SNYDER OF ST. LOUIS—

The case of John Snyder is different. Harry Truman and Snyder used to train together in the Missouri National Guard, know each other intimately. But Truman, in this case, has inherited the old tenderness of his late chief—FDR. He hates to fire a friend.

On the other hand, at least three close White House advisers—Charlie Ross, Sam O'Neal and Bob Hannegan—have so continually pounded home the fact that Snyder must get that Truman has asked them not to speak to him about it any more. (Incidentally, the three St. Louisians point out that Snyder is not a real Missourian, but from Arkansas.)

Regardless of personalities, however, Snyder has made error after error which vitally affects the economic life of the nation, and for which Truman gets the blame. Here is the scorecard:

1. Helped abolish the war labor board just at a time when it was most needed. Later Truman was put in the embarrassing position of begging the war labor board to continue, which they refused to do.

2. Abolished the office of economic stabilizer and fired its director, Will Davis, one of the ablest men in Washington. Later, Snyder had to reconstitute the office of economic stabilization, and brought in as director Judge C. Collett of Kansas City, whose chief accomplishment has been to win the nickname "Snuffy Smith," after the Barney Google character. Again Truman got the blame for this, though secretly he has been dead opposed to Collett ever since the Judge's family bolted the Roosevelt-Truman ticket last year.

3. Abolished controls on building materials. Then, after prices soared and a loud and justified protest came from veterans, Snyder reversed himself and put back the controls.

Snyder's bungling came to a climax the other day when Truman learned that he had eased Bob Nathan out of the reconversion office. When Truman heard about it, he threw up his hands.

"What! Bob Nathan leaving the government!" he exclaimed. "He's one of the ablest men I know. Can't we get him to stay?"

It happened that Truman had known Nathan's work intimately when the latter was in the war production board. So he promptly called Nathan to the White House and spent 45 minutes trying to undo the error of his bungling reconversion chief, John Snyder.

But he didn't succeed. Nathan was fed up with Snyder errors. Meanwhile Snyder has replaced Nathan with a former American firster, Richard Bissell.

Prediction: John Snyder will be out of the reconversion office before the winter is over.

CHAMPION BOYS LOST IN WOODS

One Dies Of Exposure;
Were Missing
24 Hours

Champion—Robert Short, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Short, died of exposure about 2:30 Monday afternoon in the woods near the west branch of the Peshke river, four and a half miles from his home, which is midway between here and Michigamme, an hour after he had been found by searchers.

Missing for 24 hours, the boy and his brother, Ben, Jr., 16, had separated from another brother, Jack, and an older youth, about 3 p. m. Dec. 30, when they said they would "take a shortcut" home.

A continuous search was maintained by a posse organized by Sheriff Howard Treado, state police and conservation officers. A party of five came upon Ben Short about 12:30 Monday afternoon a mile and a half north of the Michigamme institute camping grounds, and he directed them to where he had left his brother before attempting to find his way out of the woods and get help. They reached Robert about 1:30.

Had Light Clothing
The young boy, clad only in light underwear, overalls and a jacket, was lying exhausted and nearly frozen in the snow. Emergency first-aid measures were administered and an attempt was made to carry him on a stretcher. However, because of deep snow, which permitted only two men to man the stretcher at one time, part of the posse left to get a toboggan. The boy died before they returned.

Ben Short, Jr., said he and his brother became lost soon after leaving their two companions about 3 o'clock Sunday and that they had tramped through the woods almost continuously for 24 hours. They were without matches and could build no fire.

The men who found the boys were Otto Lund and son, Philip, Michigamme; Ruben Hyry, John Saari and Arvo Mattson, Champion.

Robert Short was born Jan. 5, 1934, in Charlevoix county and came here six years ago with his family. He was in the fourth grade in the Michigamme township schools.

Besides his parents and his brothers, Ben, Jr., and Jack, he is survived by another brother, William; three sisters, Mrs. Norman Manginen, Chicago, Miss Sarah Short, Negaunee, and Miss Bonnie Lou Short, who lives with her parents. He also leaves his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Short, Charlevoix.

Reported Garber Will Take New Manager Job

Marquette, Mich. — Although there was no official verification here of reports that Stephen L. Garber, general manager of public works and utilities, had accepted a position as city manager in Long Beach, N. Y., it appeared probable, Mayor James J. Beckman said, that Garber either has accepted the post or has made application for it.

No member of the city commission, the mayor stated, had been told by Mr. Garber, who left Marquette last Friday, that he intended to give up his job here or that he was considering a job in Long Beach, but yesterday Mr. Beckman received a phone call from the mayor of Long Beach and during their conversation the latter questioned Beckman regarding Garber's experience here, his title, the nature of his work and responsibilities and the amount of his salary. The Long Beach mayor did not say Garber had been hired as city manager there, but intimated his application had been received and that he was being considered for the appointment.

Garber came here 26 months ago from Escanaba, where he was employed as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

His employment by the commission as general manager of public works and utilities was coupled with a general reorganization of the commission's administrative setup and was regarded as the first step toward a city manager form of government. Before coming to Michigan, Mr. Garber had 14 years of experience with utility companies in Pennsylvania. His present salary in Marquette is $5,000 a year.

LIGHT HOUSE HAS HISTORY

Lake Huron Beacon Near
Alpena Was Built
Back In 1838

Alpena, Mich.—Fourteen miles north of this town, on the shores of Lake Huron, stands a little lighthouse, built in 1838 and one of the first lights along the rugged shores of Huron. Fifty years ago the light was decommissioned when a new and greater lighthouse was built, but the little old light will stand as long as man permits it to stand, for its walls are three feet thick and of great blocks of stone, and winding up through its center is a circular stairway of stone.

The building of that lighthouse one year after Michigan became a state was one of the first assignments of a young United States Army engineer—Lieutenant Jefferson Davis. The same Jefferson Davis who, 25 years after the building of the lighthouse on the shores of Lake Huron was to become President of the Confederate States of America.

Well, that little lighthouse on a sandy Michigan point is to become a Confederate shrine, for Francois Burgoyne Stebbins, Lansing business man who now owns the property, plans to let the lighthouse stand as a memorial to Jefferson Davis and as a tribute to the courage of the South. United Daughters of the Confederacy will be invited to place a plaque or erect a monument, or in any other way desired, set out the spot as a Southern shrine.

That in itself is a story, but there's another facet to the yarn. John Burgoyne, grandfather of Francois Burgoyne Stebbins, fought throughout the four years of war with Sherman. His outfit was Company K, 14th Michigan Infantry, which saw bitter fighting at Shiloh, Kennesaw Mountain, Peachtree Creek in the Battle of Atlanta, Savannah and Nashville. "My grandfather fought through the war with a deep admiration for the Confederate fighting man, and many, many times, when I was a tiny youngster, would take me on his knees and tell me stories of the magnificent courage of the Southerners. In his declining years he spent much of his time in the South, and became close friends with many southern clergies against whom he had fought through the four years. No man loved the South more than Grandfather Burgoyne, and often he had visited the little lighthouse LICENSE SUSPENDED—Sheriff William Miron of Escanaba, by order of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, tacks a notice of license suspension on the door of the Breezy Point tavern. Effective yesterday the license of the tavern will be suspended for 15 days for allowing minors to consume alcoholic beverages. It will be noted that the management has a large "No Minors Allowed" sign near the door. The licensee is Mrs. Elodie Moreau, and the present proprietor is Joseph J. Micheau.

Jefferson Davis had built. "Some years ago I had the chance to buy the property on which the lighthouse stands, and I was determined that it would be made a shrine to the Southern courage my grandfather so admired. That will be done. The handiwork of Jefferson Davis will never be destroyed or commercialized—it will stand as a memorial to courage."

Incidentally, John Burgoyne was a direct descendant of General John Burgoyne. John Burgoyne, as we remember from our history, was the English general and dramatic author who was sent to America in 1775. He joined General Gage at Boston with large reinforcements and witnessed the Battle of Bunker Hill. He went to Canada as governor, returned to England and in 1777 commanded an expedition from Canada to United States, the failure of which largely contributed to the establishment of the American freedom. Few battles have achieved results so great as the surrender of Burgoyne at Saratoga. Burgoyne, of course, retired from the Army and devoted his leisure to the production of dramas, his best known play "The Heiress."

SCHEDULE FILM FOR DAIRY DAY

Answers To Many Dairy Problems Contained In Sound Movie

Why do some cows "hold up" their milk and others "let it down?"

Why is more milk produced when a cow is milked in three minutes than when a longer period of time is used?

These and many other questions of importance to Delta county dairy farmers will be answered in a program to be presented at Dairy Day opening at 10 a. m. in the Coliseum at Escanaba.

Answers to the questions are contained in a sound moving picture in color produced by Purina Mills and narrated by Dr. W. E. Peterson of the University of Minnesota. The film demonstrates and explains many of the things about how a cow produces milk that have heretofore been a mystery.

"This educational picture is certainly worth every dairy farmer's time in coming to Escanaba for the Dairy Day program," E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent said yesterday.

The picture traces the supply of nutrients in the blood stream to the udder, the manufacture of milk, its storage until milking time, and the processes in the cow's body that permits the milk to be taken from the udder. The picture is in color, and explains the research work done by Dr. Peterson in discovering the complexities of milk production and secretion.

Through Dr. Peterson's work, the milker can so care for a cow that she will react to produce the most milk. Dairy men credit this as being one of the outstanding films on dairying.

In addition, C. M. Harrison, pasture expert of Michigan State College, will discuss "More Milk from Less Pasture," a topic which is applied to any dairy farm will result in more profit to the owner of the cows, according to Wenner.

Other exhibits, demonstrations and displays are scheduled for the Delta county Dairy Day program.

Bulfer Is Appointed Assistant Forester On Ottawa Forest

Dan E. Bulfer, a recently discharged captain in the Army Air Force, will become the new assistant forest supervisor on the Ottawa National Forest in Michigan. This news was reported by Jay H. Price, regional forester for the U. S. Forest Service, from Milwaukee. Bulfer replaces Kermit W. Udd who recently transferred to the Superior Forest in Minnesota.

A native of Laurel, Iowa, Bulfer is a graduate of the University of Minnesota forestry school. He worked four summer seasons on the Targhee National Forest in Idaho while going to school. In 1930 Bulfer received a regular appointment on this forest and later served on the Wasatch in Utah. In 1934 he was transferred to the Nicolet Forest in Wisconsin where he handled land acquisition activities. The following year he went to Ohio as assistant forest supervisor of the national forest purchase units which were just established. In February 1938 he returned to Wisconsin as assistant forest supervisor on the Chequamegon National Forest where he served until being called to Milwaukee to take charge of forest fire control activities for the north central region. He joined the Army Air Force in August 1942. The effective date of Mr. Bulfer's new assignment will be some time in February. He will make his home in Ironwood, Michigan, with his wife and two children.

"Every housewife can help prevent soap shortages
by turning in used fats!"

says CLINTON P. ANDERSON
Secretary of Agriculture

"It is just as important now as when fats and oils were rationed to save and turn in every bit of used kitchen fat. Used fats continue to be one of our most important sources of supply for the manufacture of soap and for other industrial uses. It may be many months before we can obtain adequate supplies of imported fats and oils for these uses. Meanwhile, housewives can help prevent soap shortages by turning in used fats, and dealers can help by continuing collections."

WE'RE STILL far below the minimum requirements in our supply of industrial fats. Any letup in saving used fats will lower this supply... may mean less soap, for your used fats are needed to help make soap. Here's what you as a housewife can do:

EVERY DROP of used fats you save helps the soap supply... helps bring back more soap to your dealer's shelves sooner. So keep on your fat-salvage job—help yourself get more soaps. And remember, you get 4c a pound when you turn in used fat to your butcher.

Where there's fat, there's soap

HUNT SUCCESS REPORTED 37%

More Cards On '45 Buck Kill In County Yet To Come In

Approximately 37 per cent of the deer hunters in Delta county got their bucks last fall, according to incomplete figures reported yesterday by the Escanaba district office of the conservation department in its "spot check" survey still under way.

John Anguilm, district conservation supervisor, said that a total of 473 questionnaire cards had been mailed last month to licensed hunters in the county. Of this total, 223 have been returned and 250 have yet to report. Although the deadline for returning the cards was previously announced as Dec. 31, Anguilm said that persons who received them are asked to send them in any time during January.

Of the 223 cards returned so far 84 of the hunters reported they had got their buck. Only one of the 223 killed a bear.

In returning the cards many hunters commented on the desirability of a one-deer law, and reported they had seen many more deer than bucks in the county.

A one-deer law, which would permit the killing of either a doe or a buck, has not found favor with the conservation department for the state in general. In certain areas (only one in Lower Michigan in 1945) hunters are permitted to kill does as well as bucks where the ratio of does to bucks is much too high.

The state's experiment with a one-deer law a few years ago, when one deer of either sex could be taken under a camp-deer license was received unfavorably and the experiment was not repeated.

WE'RE GETTING OLDER

Six per cent of the U. S. population of 75,000,000 in 1900 was over 60 years of age. Statistical figures estimate that, by 1930, we will have a population of 150,000,000, with 23 per cent 60 years or older.

Menominee Sugar Plant Ends Run

Menominee, Mich. — Superior Sugar Refining company wound up its 1945 beet processing campaign about 9:30 p. m. Sunday after a run which began on Oct. 15 and provided jobs for 310 persons in a round-the-clock operation seven days a week. For the first time in the 45 years the plant has operated women held jobs at plant machines, between 15 and 20 of them being employed.

Superior General Manager August Ludwig said the beet tonnage sliced this year would exceed the 60,000 tons sliced a year ago by about 40 per cent. Final figures had not been tabulated today. The beet season proved an exceptionally good one for the farmers from a growing standpoint, Ludwig said, but a most unfavorable one for harvesting.

An abundance of rain during the summer gave the fields the moisture on which beets thrive, but fall rains made it difficult to get beets out of the ground. As a result, the factory was forced to delay start of operations one week in October. Later on unseasonal snow storms, particularly through southeastern Wisconsin where Superior gets a major part of its beets, clogged side roads and further delayed the shipping of beets to the Menominee plant. Ludwig said in addition to the big yield per acre for the farmer, the beets this year showed a higher sugar content than those of a year ago, when a long dry season was experienced.

Ludwig said that women had been employed in the past, mostly in laboratory work, and that for the first time they were assigned this year to operating machines in the factory itself. He said they proved very efficient workers. Superior keeps a skeleton crew of about 60 persons employed the year around and this crew will soon begin repair work to condition the plant for next year's run.

Elaine Olson and
Lt. Peterson Wed
At Hermansville

At a double ring ceremony which took place at the First Methodist church of Hermansville on Dec. 29, Miss Elaine Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Helmer L. Olson of Wilson, became the bride of Lt. Everett Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson of Marquette. The couple exchanged vows before the Rev. Charles Swanson.

The bride's wedding gown, a floor-length dress of deep blue, was the same dress worn by her grandmother, Emma Matthews, when she became the bride of George Flint on Feb. 14, 1846.

Miss Olson wore a short light blue veil and carried a bouquet of white and pink roses, chrysanthemums and snapdragons. Her jewelry was a cameo necklace, gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Marjorie Hansen of Powers, a sorority sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her gown was of gold marquisette, and she carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums and baby mums in shades of gold.

Reynold Peterson of Los Angeles, Calif., attended his brother as best man, and Paul Atkins was the usher.

Mrs. Olson chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece black dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of fuchsia roses. Mrs. Peterson's costume was also of black, and she wore a similar corsage.

Miss Charlene Swanson, organist, played the traditional wedding music, and also accompanied the soloist, Miss Minnie Peterson and Mrs. Charles Swanson.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Kell auditorium in Wilson. In the evening, a wedding dinner for 16 members of the immediate families was served at the Delta hotel in Escanaba. A centerpiece of holly, flanked with red candles, effectively decorated the attractive dinner table.

The couple left later for a wedding trip to Chicago, the bride choosing for her travelling costume, a dress of light blue wool with black top coat and matching accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will make their home in Marquette.

The bride is a graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, where she was a member of Gamma Phi Alpha sorority. For the past two and one-half years, she has been the Home-Making teacher at the Powers-Spalding high school.

Mr. Peterson is a lieutenant, junior grade, in the navy, and is now on terminal leave. Prior to his return to this country, he was stationed in Shanghai, China. He is employed at the Longyear Diamond Drill company, at Marquette.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson, daughter, Olive, and son, Karl of Marquette; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peterson, Big Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holmquist, Iron Mountain; Mrs. Charlotte Nelson, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Al Kemp, Fond du Lac, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Solberg, Gladstone; Mrs. Helen Solberg, Chanute Field, Ill.; and E. J. Wilfong of Gladstone.

January Term

Schoolcraft county circuit court, which convenes on January 14 with Judge Herbert W. Runnels presiding, will in all likelihood be one of the quietest court sessions in years, County Clerk G. Leslie Bouschor reveals.

There are no new cases docketed for trial and from present indications those listed on the calendar will be either dismissed or continued.

Commanding chief interest among the criminal cases is that of the People vs. Edgar Robare, in which Robare, who is serving a life sentence, following his conviction 22 years ago for the murder of Buford Norberg, is pleading for a new trial. William Sheahan is the prosecuting attorney while Robare is represented by Kurt J. Kermik of Detroit.

Other criminal cases, of which there are several, are of the nature of non-support and statutory violations and have been continued from term to term on assurance that the defendants were temperate and supporting their families. One jury case is listed. Trustees of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railway company are the plaintiffs and Floyd Webb is defendant in a suit to recover damages in an accident in which the plaintiff claims the defendant ran into a train of the company with a truck and caused damage. Robert A. Archibald is attorney for the plaintiff and the firm of James & Robb represent the defendant. The case has been on the docket through several terms of court and motion to dismiss the case will be heard in the coming session.

One non-jury case is listed—that of Sherman F. Dewey vs. Herman Swanson and John Swanson, doing business as the Swanson Trucking company.

The jury, drawn for the term, will report for service on the morning of January 15.

NIGHTINGALE IS SOLID

The nightingale's song can be heard for more than a mile. It far exceeds most other birds in its vocal ability, but the fact that it sings at night has helped add to its reputation as an outstanding performer.

Much Building In City
Is Prospect For 1946

Beset with an acute housing shortage in 1945, Manistique residents fumed and fretted at priority restrictions and the inability to secure the necessary labor required to bring relief to the situation that has retarded the city's growth and progress to a greater degree than any other cause.

A few residences were enlarged here during the past year, and foundations for a number of others were made, but no new residences were completed in Manistique. The conversion of several upper floors in store buildings into apartments has helped relieve the situation somewhat, but the shortage is still acute and from the looks of things at present, the trouble will continue for years to come.

Construction of new business places was confined to the new potato warehouse and farm implement building of Walter Linderoth, the latter being still under construction. There were many noteworthy improvements of business property, however.

Chief among these improvements were the new front and remodeling of the Gardner hotel; new fronts on the Schultz Brothers furniture store, the Art Miller second hand store, the Christenson and Majestic taverns, all on Deer street; addition to the John Herick residence on Arbutus avenue; construction of a three car garage at the Morton funeral home and a garage at the residence of Dr. N. L. Lindquist on Lake street.

Industrial plants also expanded and remodeled. At the Manistique Pulp and Paper company, much remodeling has taken place during the past year and construction of a huge addition to provide paper storage space is due to begin in the course of a few months. The paper company also made extensive improvements on its conversion dam at the north end of the river flume. A large addition was also made to the Manistique Tool and Manufacturing company and many noteworthy improvements were made on both the interior and exterior of the Hiawatha Metal Products company on River street.

The C & L Hardware company added a sizeable fireproof addition to its present quarters and contemplates a number of improvements in the coming year among them being a new front and the extension of heating facilities for the building to include the quarters of the local Masonic bodies which occupy the third floor.

Plans for new buildings in the city in the coming year are to a large degree still in the rumor stage, due largely to the fact that priorities on building material still make their realization far from certain. Availability of construction help is also a serious problem.

Several new business blocks are due to be built on Cedar street, among these are a new movie house south of the LaFollette property. This property will provide shop space for at least two additional business firms and space for a number of business offices.

D. M. Creeger, it is reported, will probably start construction on a new building to house his variety store and probably provide shop space for other enterprises on lots south of the Larson hardware store.

Strongly hinted, also, is the possibility of a new building on the vacant lot between the First National Bank and the Brault studio.

There is also a possibility that a business block will be built on the vacant lot east of the Putnam drug store on Deer street.

Many other new business enterprises are due to blossom out in the course of the year, among them a new implement building for Richards Brothers, a downtown hotel and at least two new filling stations, but these are still in the category of unconfirmed rumors.

There will, definitely, be a number of new residences built in the city this summer, but relief for hundreds seeking adequate and comfortable housing is still years away.

New Plastic Yarn It Suitable For Outdoor Furniture

New York — A plastic-coated yarn provided U. S. Navy vessels with electrical insulation said to be superior to the insulation used by other navies, it is now revealed here. The relatively new material is also waterproof, rustproof and immune to extremes of temperature, and is resistant to mild acids and alkalis. Fiberglass, cotton, or rayon thread is used under the plastic coating.

Both Army and Navy used the plastic-coated yarn for other purposes than insulation, particularly for window screens, where its strength and immunity to rust make it especially serviceable. It will now find many applications in civilian uses, ranging from perspiration-resistant girdles and foundation garments to industrial conveyor belts and fish lines. A heavy webbing of the material is suitable for wide use in furniture that may be left outdoors in all kinds of weather.

This plastic-coated yarn is known as Plexon, and is made here by Freyberg Bros-Strauss. It was developed by two French chemists.

FORMER HEALTH UNIT HEAD DIES

Dr. Robert C. Farrier Passes Away In St. Louis

DR. ROBERT C. FARRIER

Dr. Robert C. Farrier, 58, former director of the Delta county health unit, died at the Barnes hospital in St. Louis on Nov. 20, according to word received yesterday by C. P. Titus, county school commissioner.

Dr. Farrier moved from Escanaba to East St. Louis, Ill., on Dec. 1, 1937, to become head of the county health unit there.

He is survived by his widow and son, Dr. Robert M. Farrier. Dr. Farrier was born at Omaha, Texas. He received his medical degree at the University of Tennessee in 1908 and took a year post-graduate work at Tulane university, New Orleans. He practiced medicine in Texas and later worked as an industrial physician for a lumber company in Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Dr. Farrier entered public health work in 1925 on a part time basis in Oklahoma. He became full time public health physician Jan. 27, 1927, as director of a health unit at Homer, La. After three years he went to Morgantown, W. V., as a public health officer and came to Escanaba seven years later.

Motorists Fined After New Year's Day Car Mishaps

Three car drivers were fined, one for drunk driving and two for reckless driving, following traffic accidents in which their cars were involved over the New Year's holiday period.

Neil LaFave, of 418 South 13th street, yesterday pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of drunk driving and paid a fine of $50 and costs of $8.25. LaFave's car at 9:43 p. m. Jan. 1 in the 1100 block on Washington avenue struck and damaged a parked car owned by Ella Stadel, 1002 Eighth Avenue South. LaFave suffered a cut on his right hand in the accident.

John Budkis of Cornell at 11:55 p. m. Dec. 31, driving on Lake Shore Drive collided with a car driven by Joseph Huff of Gladstone. Both cars were damaged. Budkis yesterday pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge in Justice Ranguette's court and paid a fine of $25 and costs of $8.25. Norman Lauscher, riding with Budkis, was injured in the accident and taken to St. Francis hospital for treatment.

Barney Strahn of Wells, arrested Dec. 29 at 8:15 p. m. on Ludington street for reckless driving, yesterday paid a fine of $25 and costs of $8.25.

Two Escanaba boys were taken in custody by police and one was placed in detention home for arraignment in juvenile court charged with the theft of a car owned by C. F. Cox, 501 South

Tenth street. The car was taken at 1:30 a. m. Jan. 1 from where it was parked in front of The Tavern, Ludington street.

Victory Bond Drive Exceeds Quotas Here

Charles Hammar, chairman of the Delta county War Finance committee, yesterday reported that Delta county has exceeded its quotas on all issues in the Victory Loan campaign. Individual, corporation and other bond issue quotas were all over the top, he has been informed.

North Carolina ranks first in the number of cotton spindles in operation.
